- Learning Outcomes: (1) Understand what reporting verbs are.
  - (2) Be aware of the general meaning of different reporting verbs.
  - (3) Understand how reporting verbs vary in strength.
  - (4) Check sentences for grammar usage with reporting verbs.

The following activities are intended to give students a general understanding of the reporting verbs (Learning Outcome 1/Task 2), as well as how reporting verbs vary in meaning (Learning Outcome 2/Task 3), strength (Learning Outcome 3/Task 4) and grammar (Learning Outcome 4/Task 5).

Suggested sequence/timings (for teachers)

The following is a possible sequence. Total timing is 40'.

1. Warm-up (10')

a) Begin with Task 1: Before watching to lead in to the activity. This task can be done before giving the handout to students, e.g. copy text/questions to the board or PPT.

b) Go through answers. Note: the citation format used in the video is Harvard/APA.

2. Video comprehension (30')

a) Direct students to watch the video and take notes.

b) Give out the handout and have students (in pairs) complete Tasks 2-5.

c) If necessary, allow students to watch a second time to check answers.

d) Go through answers with students.

Alternative approach: the video can be watched in segments, with students completing each task after each segment. The following are segment timing.

00.00-01.38	Introduction (Task 2)

- Meaning (Task 3) 01.38-03.34
- Strength (Task 4) 03.34-05.49

05.49-09.07 Grammar (Task 5)

4. Extension activities (if time)

- a) Have students look through an authentic text to identify reporting verbs. Study the verbs for:
  - Meaning
  - Strength
  - Grammar

b) Have students look through their own writing (if they have written texts with in-text citations).

- How many reporting verbs have they used? •
- Is there a variety of reporting verbs?

Answers

Reporting Verbs

Task 1: Before watching

- i) Why is it important in academic writing to use information from other writers? (1) To build on the work of other writers. (2) To strengthen your own ideas.
- ii) When using information from other writers, it is important to say where the information came from (i.e. to acknowledge the source or cite the source). Why?
- (1) To give credit to the original author(s). (2) To avoid plagiarism.
- iii) Study the following short passage.
  - How many sources have been cited? 3
  - Highlight (or underline) the sources. [see below]
  - What is the format of the citation (e.g. name, page, place, etc.)? surname + year

Note: This could be Harvard (UK/Aus) or APA (US) citation format.

One possible solution is to use fewer resources. Sunil and Robinson (2008) claim that this is the most effective way to tackle the issue. However, using fewer resources leads to reduced production, and, ultimately, reduced profits, making it a less attractive option for most companies (Jones, 2000; Peterson, 2015).
